Communication at its very best: Sedus sofa.

Even in this, the Internet age, direct dialogue is and remains the most important and most efficient way of communicating in the office. Sedus sofa has been specially developed to promote face-to-face communication. It is an extremely comfortable upholstered furniture system with a distinct, elegant style and many design options, which sits equally well in impressive reception areas as on the management floor or in the communicative central areas of open-plan offices.

This is what efficient, creative workplaces look like.

Inspiration seldom comes at one's desk. According to scientific studies, people are at their most creative when they feel at ease, when they relax and let their thoughts wander and can talk with others in a laid-back atmosphere. Creating the right conditions for this is becoming a fundamental success factor, especially for companies in innovation-driven sectors. Sedus sofa gives office spaces that stimulating quality which is so important for productive brainwork.

Sedus sophia brings movement into the office.

Movement and changing working postures are important for healthy office work. It's no contradiction that comfortable seating actually aids mobility. Whether for confidential tête-à-têtes, an informal chat with colleagues or a spontaneous team meeting, Sedus sophia creates zones within the room which encourage interaction outside one's personal workstation, whilst also offering a private retreat and break area.

Large palette.

Sedus sophia harmonises with all colour schemes, while offering the option of making colour a distinctive design feature.

Design flexibility.

Carcass, extensions and cushions can be used in a single colour or in a combination of colours.

Quality covers.

In addition to 30 colours from the Fame collection, a high-quality wool fabric, there are many attractive leather colours to choose from. Thanks to Sedus' excellent workmanship, the seating is extremely robust and will retain its good looks long into the future.
